Statement of Historical and Architectural Significance:

2612 Pacific is a small vernacular house. It has retained its original floor plan, but the siding replacement has damaged its integrity. It is threatened by the commercial zoning of the area.

Statement of Historical and Architectural Significance:

This small Craftsman bungalow is an example of the smaller versions of the popular Craftsman style that were popular between 1910 and 1925. The commercial zoning of this area is the biggest threat to the house, which is in good condition.
